SUPERINTENDENT

Congratulations to the 1957 Graduating Class of Johnston High School. We wish you success as you use and develop your lives. You will find both happiness and satisfaction if you take full advantage of your talents and opportunities, because, as H. G. Wells, the distinguished English author, so ably phrased it: "True success is the relation between what a man is, and what he could have become had he made the most of his ability and opportunity through all the years of his working life."

Here are the folks who give us our lunch,
As you can see, there's quite a bunch.

Bun and Margaret can cook so well . . .
We think their food tastes mighty swell.

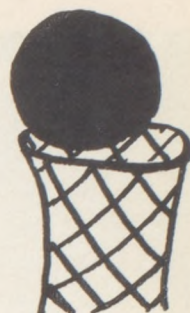

Here are David, Frank, and Bill;
They clean up what we drop and spill.

They pick up up in the morning bright
And take us home each weekday night.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In 1944, Nadine Abbott, Bill Allen, Eldon Appling, Virginia Betz, Joan Blakley, Julie Busby, Karen Dewey, Gerald Hockmuth, Don Jarvis, Jim Krantz, Pat Lenz, and Martha Weatherspoon became eager members of the kindergarten class. Their teacher, Mrs. Youngquist, was especially popular because the space under her desk was a favorite napping spot. The "rock and roll" era may have had its beginning with the organization of our rhythm band which consisted of cymbals, triangles, wood blocks, sticks, strings of bells, tambourines, and a bass drum.

First grade seems to have been our artistic year. It was then that we made and painted clay vegetables. Of course, this was also the year that several pupils chose to remain after the bell had rung and the superintendent came out and gave them a paddling with the biggest hands they had ever seen. Could it have been that our new member, Sandy Standers, had any part in this escapade?

Another milestone was reached in second grade when we no longer had to take the daily nap. Mrs. Wilson, wanting to develop our muscles as well as our minds, taught us to play baseball. One day we gave reports on trains and invited our pleased mommies to hear them. During this year, John Robinette, Doris Siever, and Janine Smith joined our happy family.

Eldon Good and Marlene Myer increased our number in the third grade which was taught by Miss Payton (often referred to as "Painter") and Mrs. Warner. We really thought we were grown up when we began writing our spelling words instead of printing them. One day a busy mouse chewed holes in several of our lunch sacks and nibbled on our sandwiches.

In fourth grade our merry class and its new members, Janey Baker, Garold Kramer, Donna Main, Larry Reese, and Jerry Seibert, moved to Camp Dodge. Jim Krantz frightened our teacher, Miss Orcutt, with a toy mouse he had brought to school with him. Of course, Jim remained indoors for the next few recesses, but it was worth it. A rumor was started concerning a house which was said to be haunted. It was even said that men with guns were seen in the house. Pupils also stoutly maintained that they had seen ghosts going in and out of the house.

"If you don't be good, I will turn you over my checkered apron," was the favorite expression of one fifth grade teacher, Mrs. Lumsden. Miss Maxson was our other teacher. Linda Cox and Ann Hawn joined us that year. "Old Faceful," our fountain in the hall which often squirted us in the face, was a source of great fun for most of the boys. Mrs. Lumsden gave us lessons in penmanship.

Jack Griffith and Tom Warren became members of our group in sixth grade, taught by Mrs. Manny and Mrs. Roper. Mrs. Manny showed us how to make and paint paper maché bowls and figurines. We took a trip to the state capitol and historical building. Just before Christmas we lighted the fireplace in our room and then we all sang carols around it. Late in the spring, we moved back to the main school building at Johnston.

We made a smashing entry into Junior High by defeating the eighth graders in the magazine contest. Martha Weatherspoon was the high salesman and she received a gold pin for selling over $100 worth. Our teachers, Mrs. Ballou, Mrs. Cassaday, and Mr. Herrick, diligently tried to pour "larning" into our gray matter. During the course of that year, Dick Moon and Pat Sullivan became our fellow classmates.

Doyle Elwell became a member of our class in our final year of the grades. We really proved our worth by winning the magazine contest again. Ann Hawn received the much-coveted watch by selling the greatest number of magazines. Mrs. Cassaday, Mrs. Moyle, Mr. Herrick, and Mr. Sims dutifully began to prepare us for the wonderful years we were to spend in high school.

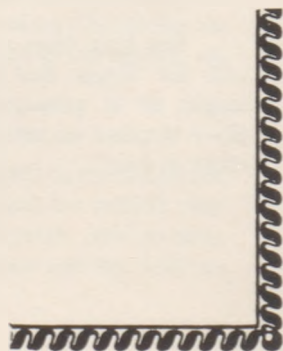

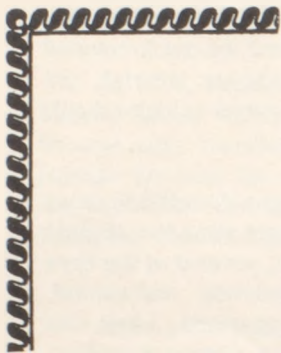

After rising to glorious heights the year before, ninth grade was quite a downfall to us as Freshmen. However, this was destined to be one of our most active years. There were two distinct accomplishments which made us proud to be in that ninth grade class. First, several of the boys won letters in track, football, and baseball, an honor seldom bestowed on Freshmen. And second, ours was the first ninth grade class to have an attendant to the Homecoming queen. Linda Cox did the honors for us. The teachers and upperclassmen really kept us busy doing our studies, working on the various committees to plan parties, Homecoming, etc., and generally acquainting ourselves with school life. Those new members who joined the fun that year were Jolene Martin, Jerry Heidman, Larry Bowen, Karen Hennings, Lola Lee Tener, Nola Lee Tener, and Leilani Kauzlarich.

During Freshman year all the teachers warned us that tenth grade would be the hardest in our high school career. They were right! But we had fun too! The Latin class held two parties and attended the state convention of the Junior Classical League. Of course, there were also the high school parties. Joan Blakley reigned as attendant from our class at the Homecoming festivities. For some people that year was just one bad break. It seems that at one time about ten boys at Johnston had broken legs. Even so, for most of us, including Roy Gaunt, Kenny Farlow, and Kenny Rodine, who had become members of our group, the year was very profitable.

Junior year held many obligations for us. First on the list was our Junior class play, entitled "My Little Oscar." Held in connection with it was a ticket sale contest between the two English classes. The results were not only profitable for the winning class, but also for the entire eleventh grade, for we netted about $180. The next thing we had to do was choose our class rings and graduation announcements. And last, but certainly not least, was the task of planning a banquet for the Senior class. We also gave them a Junior-Senior prom--the first in the history of Johnston High School. Soon we began to realize that before long we would be Seniors and that our responsibilities would be numerous. But we thought we were prepared.

On September fourth, three wandering classmates, Bill Allen, Julie Busby, and Nadine Abbott, returned to finish their high school careers where they had started in kindergarten. On that day all the Seniors received their class rings--badges of their success. Since then we have held our Homecoming activities, during which Linda Cox and Jolene Martin reigned as queen and princess, and have had our class pictures taken. We have tried, as all Seniors do, to make the school a better place because we have been here. All of us have worked hard in extra-curricular activities and have tried to bring glory to "Dear Old Johnston."

Not long from now the Class of '57 will scatter, perhaps to never meet again, but . . . "we will not forget tho' we be far, far away . . ." for Johnston has sheltered us and nurtured and taught us in preparation for the years of maturity when we will try to make the world a better place because we have been there. And now we make a fond but grateful farewell to our "Hallowed Halls of Ivy."

THE HALLS OF IVY

Oh, we love the Halls of Ivy that surround us here today, And we will not forget tho' we be far, far away. To the hallow'd Halls of Ivy ev'ry voice will bid farewell, Fare

twilight like the old ves

per bell. One day a hush

eps of us all—will echo

down the hall and disappear

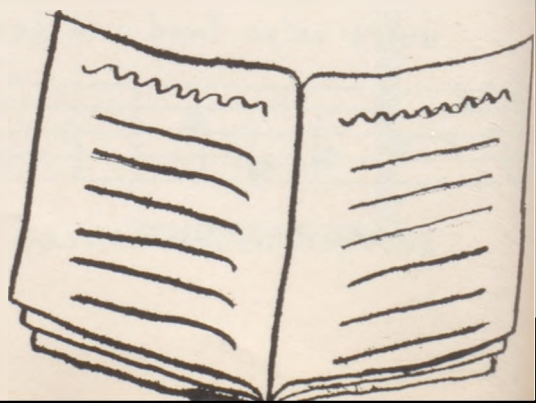

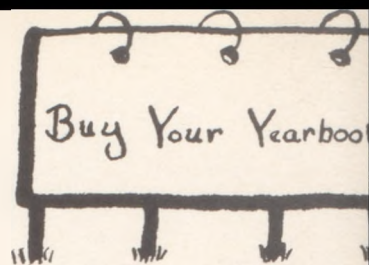

art our journeys far apart

A part of ev'ry heart will linger here in the sacred Halls of Ivy, where we've lived and learned to know, That thro' the years we'll see you in the sweet after-glow. Oh, we love the Halls of Ivy—

IT MAKES SMALL DIFFERENCE

WHAT MY Talent IS . . .

Perhaps I sing . . . or paint . . . or write . . .
Or free from stone an image I alone
Perceived before.

Or then, perhaps,
Mine is another gift . . .
The gift to teach . . . to build . . . or to extract
From earth and air and sun and sea
New knowledge, power, or wealth.

But, as I say,
It makes small difference
What my talent is . . . however grand
Or humble its estate.

Let me but have, as well,
Its rare companion gift
Of wisdom.

Let me be but wise enough
To nurture talent with my toil,
And moisten it with sweat . . . to swell
Its growth with diligence,
And wear its bloom with grace.

Then only will my song
Stir echo in Man's heart, and my painting
Find reflection in his eyes . . .
Then only will my written word find permanence,
And my sculpture honored place.

Finally . . .
Let me be but wise enough
To know my talent's Source,
And let me then—in gratitude—
Give all to it . . .
But more important still—however grand
Or humble its estate—
Give it to All!
